

Four Students Add Cosmopolitan Air To Campus

By Jan Lamine

You think you've got a tough time getting home for Thanksgiving? Did you ever try to hitchhike back to China, Turkey or even Canada? Fortunately for the rest of us, that's a problem which only Bobby Tao and Charles Chen, both of Hong Kong, China; Deniz Oguzlu, Istanbul, Turkey; and Lois Sonstelie, Regina, Saskatchewan, have to face.

Charles, Lois and Deniz were all encouraged to come to Wartburg by friends and relatives who had gone to school here, while Bobby first became interested when he found Wartburg's name listed in the United States Information Service college directory in Hong Kong.

When asked what he had anticipated America would be like, Bobby Tao answered, "I expected America to be a free, peaceful, and civilized country with kind and generous people, and it is."

LOST TRUNK. Bobby came from Hong Kong to San Francisco by boat, and from San Francisco to Waverly by bus. He says that he's not looking forward to the cold Iowa winter, since the bus company misplaced his large trunk containing all his winter clothes.

With plans for a chemistry major, Bobby is looking forward to studying at Wartburg. His travel visa is valid only for the years he is studying in the United States. When he has completed his studies, he must return to China.

Bobby handles the English language well, speaks four Chinese dialects and is tackling German this year.

"It's those r's that get me in German," he laughed.

CAF WORKER. Besides his full course of studies, Bobby works in the cafeteria, where he says he feels quite at home. On his first day here one of the students took him down to the cafeteria to meet the other student from Hong Kong. Bobby claims the surprise of seeing Charlie Chen, whom he had known in Hong Kong, standing in the Wartburg cafeteria was one of the biggest moments of his life. Neither one had known the other was coming to the United States.

Ever since that reunion it has been a common sight to meet Charlie and Bobby walking around campus talking together in Chinese.

Charlie, who also works in the cafeteria, commented, "Back home we have three servants to serve us, but here with the modern machines I don't even mind working in the kitchen."

MEINLY CHOW. "When I was home," he said, "we liked to eat American food. Now I am getting hungry for Chinese food. The chow mein we had in the cafeteria last week was Americanized."

Charlie has quite a collection of American jazz music. Two weeks after a record is made in the United States it is available in Hong Kong. Dancing styles in China are almost the same as they are here, he reports.

Charlie studied at the University of Shanghai until he was forced to flee from the Communists. Last year he attended the University of Munich in Germany. He's a junior this year and is working towards a dental degree. Since he has his travel visa from Germany, his years of study in America are unlimited.

NO PRINCESS. Another student who comes to Wartburg from the East, Deniz Oguzlu, seems to think that the question, "Are you a princess?" is the funniest thing any Wartburg student has asked her yet.

"I really enjoyed squire days," she said. "It was such a good way to get acquainted." Deniz came to the United States on the Turkish ship Aydin, after touring Europe with her parents.

In Turkey, Deniz received most of her education in private American schools. For 12 years she studied English under a governess and later studied in the high school. Since her background was chiefly American, she felt she would do better studying in an American college.

Deniz plans to major in psychology and minor in dramatics. She is looking forward to the day she can help people with sick minds.

Besides her 18-credit schedule, Deniz works in the Den and in Wartburg Hall. She joined the Castle Singers chiefly because of her love of ballet, which she has studied for the past six years.

Deniz finds that the food has a different flavor here. "We rarely eat canned foods in Turkey," she explained.

NO IGLOO? In comparison, Lois Sonstelie finds very little difference between America and Canada. This will probably come as a surprise to some, since one Wartburg student asked her, "Do you live in an igloo?"

Lois wants to patiently explain to all that she has never even seen an Eskimo. Lois's home town of Regina is not only the capital of Saskatchewan, but it is the home of the famous Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Although Lois hesitated to admit it, she is only 16. Since the Canadian school year is longer and more courses are required than under the American system, she was allowed to skip her senior year of high school. Lois is directing her program towards an English major.

Although Bobby, Charlie, Deniz and Lois are many miles from home, they have already become adopted members in the Wartburg family. For at least three of them, Wartburg will be home away from home for the next four years.

ONE PLANNING STORY CONTEST

Nov. 15 is the deadline for entries in One magazine's short story contest. According to contest rules, the stories are to be built around a theme "involving teenagers and pertaining to the Christian faith and life." The contest is open to all who are interested.

Winning stories will be awarded prizes totaling $200 and will be printed in the magazine.

Members of Wartburg's English Department may be seen for more information and will be cooperating with the contest. Particulars may also be found in the September issue of One.

Student Government Rolls As New Officers Named

By Nolan Cramer

Student government was in full swing this week as all class officers were confirmed and Student Senate and Student Body meeting agendas were released.

Juniors met last week to elect their new class officers for the school year. Filling the positions were Emil Blobaum, vice president; Elaine Schneider, secretary; and Lois Fritschel, treasurer.

Other student government action this week saw the sophomore office positions filled in addition to the approval of faculty advisers. Vice president elected was Jim Munter; secretary, Marian Chatfield; treasurer, Sandra Sekas. Dr. Edwin Liemohn, Music Department, and Ray Norheim, History Department, were chosen as sophomore class advisers.

FROSH ELECT. Complete elections took place at the first freshman election of the year last Tuesday. President of the newcomers is Don Lehman. Richard Jebson will hold the position of vice president; Jane Holzen, secretary; and Diane Davidson, treasurer. Homecoming chairman selected was Marilyn Ruesch. Dr. Leo Petri, Biology Department, and Dr. Lotus Knief, Psychology Department, were selected as freshman class advisers.

Business taken up at the Thursday class meeting was the election of freshman senators. Ed Scharlau, Kathryn Karsten and Bruce Bergquist were the selections made.

Slated to take place at Monday's senate meeting will be the final approval of remaining

In addition to being part of the agenda for the Student Body meeting next Thursday, the new traffic program, campus chest and student body project will be discussed at the Senate meeting.

ADIX SAYS. According to John Adix, Student Body President, the dancing program for this year will be discussed at the Student Body meeting. Adix also stated that a question of "What to do at Student Body meetings?" will be presented to the students.

"Convocations set aside for student meetings are for the students, and we want to know what they would like to have take place at the meetings," Adix said.

SENIORS NAMED. Senior class members met last Wednesday evening to elect new office holders. August Borchardt was elected vice president; Virginia Grimm, secretary; and Nancy Mista, treasurer. Commencement chairman is Anne von Fischer.

Activities Committee, under the chairmanship of Harvey Groskreutz, held a special session in order to get things rolling for the Homecoming dance. The event is planned as a semi-formal occasion with the parents' reception as part of the dance. A band or orchestra will be chosen for the music making at the reception.

New Face

Brian Donlevy, who was to appear as Stephen Douglas in "The Rivalry," opening number of the 1957-58 Artist Series Oct. 27, has been forced to withdraw from the cast. Martin Gabel has been secured as a replacement.

Gabel, probably better known to television fans as Arlene Francis' husband, has just concluded a starring role on Broadway in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"

Dorm Dedication Planned

Dedication of the new wing of Centennial Hall will take place Oct. 27 at 2 p.m. The ceremony will be held outdoors at the site of the wing, weather permitting.

Dr. William L. Young, executive secretary of the Board of Higher Education of the American Lutheran Church, will speak at the service.

After the ceremony open house is planned. Donors to the building will be honored guests at the dinner in the cafeteria and at the Artist Series program in the evening.

Convos Feature Pastor, Meeting

Pastor Karl Schmidt, head of the Christianity Department, will address students and faculty at Tuesday's convocation with the theme "On Becoming What We Are."

Faculty and student body meetings will be held during convocation hour Thursday.

Hiltner Returns To U.S., Studied, Taught Abroad

John Hiltner, son of Wartburg's Dr. and Mrs. John Hiltner, has recently returned from Turkey, where he taught during the past year.

John attended Wartburg College from 1950 to 1952, after which he went on to Northwestern University, where he is now working for his doctor's degree. During the past school year, John was awarded a grant to study at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

When Israel invaded Egypt last fall, he was in Istanbul, and, since travel was banned, he had to remain in Turkey. He taught at Robert College, an American school for Turkish boys, and did research and gathered material for his dissertation "Agricultural Geography in the Cilician Plain."

On his way home, John was able to stop at Neuendettelsau in Bavaria at the church in the town where his father was born and raised. Dr. Hiltner is the only living link between the Bavarian Lutheran Church in Germany and the American Lutheran Church.

22 States Represented

In the total Wartburg enrollment of 833, 22 states and four countries are represented. Included are two students from Hong Kong, one from Turkey and one from Canada.

Iowa heads the enrollment by states with 417, followed by Wisconsin with 102, Illinois 87 and Minnesota 71. North Dakota has supplied 24 students, and South Dakota 19.

Thirteen Knights come from both Kansas and Colorado with seven from Michigan. Oklahoma and Indiana have sent five apiece, and California four. Three come from Arizona and Ohio while two are here from Mississippi. Lone staters are from Massachusetts, Washington, New York, Montana and Florida.

The ratio of men to women is less this year than previously with 505 men to 328 women. By classes there are 114 seniors, 143 juniors, 235 sophomores and 341 freshmen.

All Right — It's Your Move

"Thursday, Sept. 26 — 10 a.m. Convocation, Knights Gym, Student Body meeting."

Note the quote from Wartburg's Week. To the seasoned upper-classman, it means merely a smiling nod of the head as he gloats, "Good — an hour of rest. Don't have to go to convo."

To the incoming freshman, this attitude is a bit bewildering. He hears the upper-classmen setting their example. But he has also heard that student government at Wartburg is highly important. Possibly he is aware of the vast amount of responsibility that students hold in self-government.

But with the usual curiosity of the newcomer, he will probably attend. And in later years he will remark, "Student Body Meetings? Oh, yeah, I went to one when I was a freshman."

And then — a short, cynical laugh. OK, admittedly this sounds pretty negative. But the reason it does, is that most Student Body meetings are worthless. The usual procedure is that the students decide that since there aren't really enough at the meeting to make a decision, they'll wait till convo and then take a ballot.

Then the next time a meeting occurs, fewer students will attend because nothing ever happens there anyway. It's a vicious circle.

But the unfortunate fact remains — it's oh so true.

Now then, what's the solution? Unfortunately there isn't any one pat answer that would automatically solve everything. Instead, it poses a tremendous challenge to all involved — the students and the senate.

It's up to the student leaders to see that Student Body meetings are worthwhile. That there is legitimate and pertinent business conducted at these meetings. And that enough publicity is given to what will be discussed.

And to the rest of the students, rests an even greater responsibility. There's an old saying to the effect that people get the kind of government they deserve. If this were true, Wartburg students would be in a governmentally bad fix. And if they want to avoid this, well, it might be a good idea to attend the meetings.

And if neither party can carry its responsibility sufficiently, then the only alternative will be to admit that Student Body meetings are a failure. Then abolish them and give everybody an extra hour once a month.

So that's it. Want to continue student government here? The choice rests on the students and on student government.

Knight Beat

by Bob LosLo

You people are a great disappointment. Every Thursday I sit at this typewriter and rack my feeble brain for material. But nothing ever happens. Why doesn't somebody blow up Luther Hall or something? Honest, Mr. Oppermann, I'm only kidding.

I do have an idea for averting my nervous frustration. If you hear of anything happening that you think might be of interest to Knight Beat readers, why don't you tell me about it? Then I could print it and I will be happy, Harold I-told-you-those-Braves-would-come-through-in-the-clutch Kurtz will be happy, and, above all, you will be happy.

I noticed that my team, the Chicago Cubs, was barely edged out of the pennant again this year. I'll have to keep chewing Doublemint gum, or Shell Rock will get the franchise next year.

Speaking of Shell Rock, I noticed that Leon Webrand is visiting the campus. The former Knight twirler had a good season — 16 wins, 7 losses — with two Kansas City Athletics Class C teams last season.

I know how disappointed some of you freshmen were when you arrived at Wartburg. Your pre-set ideas of what college life is like turned out to be quite different from actual college. The girls have discovered that the fellows aren't falling all over themselves to date them. The fellows have discovered that not everyone goes around wearing white bucks and those crazy flat top hats. And the Little Theater is the only building adequately covered with ivy.

I still dream, however, of what the perfect college will be like and what the dream faculty will be. Here is a partial list:

Mission Need Continues, Manikam Tells Students

By Charles Maahs

The presence of Bishop Manikam and his stirring address in convocation once more reiterated and emphasized the basic challenge that confronts every Christian. It is our individual duty and obligation to discharge our evangelistic witness unto Christ into every corner of the world.

A recent trend in Asian foreign missions has seemed to be a de-emphasis in the calling of western missionaries. In many minds, this has seemed to indicate a withdrawal of our foreign missionary effort and the closing of an essential field of work. Bishop Manikam's words were an assuring fact of the need for our missionaries and the need to expand the Christian missionary work, specifically in Asia.

Some of these ideas have originated from the theory that a native is better called and more capable to witness to a fellow countryman. Language difficulties, color barriers fade when the Gospel is preached and witnessed by one's own people. But this development is not a hindrance and should add impetus for a requirement to teach and qualify more native missionaries to spread the Gospel.

In every country in Asia today, there is a Christian church. They are small in number and in size. However, their significance lies in the fact that they are leaven which will become wealth for the future. Our labor can help this future Christian church become a reality.

Foreign mission work is not a sob story and it is not an appeal to the emotions. It is a challenge for the Christian. It is a need to be fulfilled. It is an obligation which each and every one of us must discharge. It is our responsibility to become foreign mission minded and to act accordingly.

Jomen Open With Parsons

Coach Norm Johansen will unveil his 1957 version of Wartburg football when the Knights open the Iowa Conference grind against a seasoned Parsons club this afternoon at 1:30.

Johansen acquired his share of headaches the past week as several gridders incurred minor injuries. Most of the afflictions have been mended so that the players will be ready to see action in today's tilt.

On the dark side of the picture, Don Sahling, starting guard, has been lost to the team for about three weeks, according to the latest reports Friday night. Sahling broke a thumb in Wednesday night's practice session.

Don Sahling, starting guard, who broke a finger in Wednesday's practice session, will be ready to go today.

Parsons' mentor, O. B. Nelson, also was hit by the medic run earlier when his starting center Tom Walljasper fractured a wrist. Otherwise his boys are physically set for today's affair. Nelson's charges rang up the curtain on the '57 schedule a week ago when they downed Culver-Stockton 7-0 at Fairfield.

Knights' final loss of the '56 campaign came at the hands of Parsons, 34-20, after the orange and black crew had held a 20-0 hudge over the Wildcats at the half.

Table comparing Wartburg and Parsons players: Fritz, Klingman, Bolin, Knitt, Brandt, Krueger, Huth, McClelland, Jensen, Nichol, Raper vs. LE, LT, LG, C, RG, RT, RE, QB, RHB, LHB, FB.

Football, Bowling Underway In IM's

Intramurals got under way this week with the beginning of the howling and football season.

The bowling program was launched Wednesday night with eight teams participating, six of which still need sponsors. Howie Hof had the high game and high series with a 200 and 525, respectively. Others ranking on top were Doug Schuldt with a 520 series and Phil Moeller with a 516. A few more players are still needed, and those interested should contact Schuldt.

Flag football began with Cotta House downing Grossmann III, 12-0. Captains of the football teams are urged to get their rosters and dues to Denny Wessels by Monday.

Yellsters

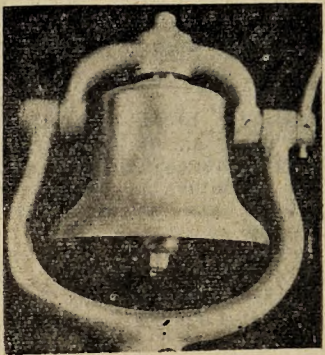

PRACTICING YELLS are new Knight cheerleaders (l. to r.) Joyce Speicher, Barbara Knoll, Harvey Jaeger, Lee Olson and Mary Ann Baehler.

Bell At Stake Saturday

Warthurg Knights' grid squad will travel to Fayette next Saturday for the annual victory bell battle with Upper Iowa University.

The Peacocks carted the traveling trophy to Waverly last year, only to carry it back home again after escaping with a 19-19 tie in the season's opener.

The UIU team finished one notch above the Knights in the conference last season. Like Warthurg, these boys are expected to show improvement over last year's record.

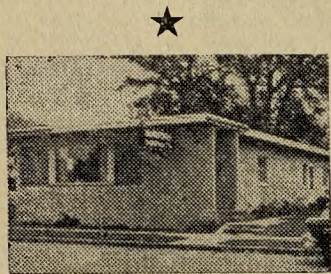

PA System Installed

In use for the first game today is the new public address system in Knights Stadium. Costing $550, the system was purchased from funds collected during the 1955-56 student body project drive.

In charge of arrangements for it was last year's student body vice president Ed Schneider.

Peace Paths H'coming Theme Set

"Pathways to Peace" has been announced as the theme of the 1957 Wartburg College Homecoming by general chairman Jim Schwarz. Homecoming dates this year are Oct. 25-27.

All Homecoming committees were appointed by Schwarz last spring, and plans are already in progress for the three-day event.

Schwarz
c a m p u s decorations and parade.

Planning this year's bonfire and pep rally is sophomore Larry Nelson, while another sophomore, Jim Munter, is chairman of the special contests. Duane Matz, junior, heads the novelties committee.

A DANCE? Lois Huth, junior, is chairman of the Homecoming banquet and Ann Finnern, senior, is chairman of the queen's reception. The Homecoming dance, an addition to this year's program, is under the direction of the Student Senate.

Handling the publicity for this year's event is junior Norm Braatz, while another junior, Julius Roehl, is financial chairman. Bev Johnson, sophomore, is secretary of the Homecoming Committee.

Roger Buhr, junior, will direct the parent and alumni registration, and Dennis Dickman, another junior, is in charge of the religious services for Homecoming weekend.

OPEN HOUSE. Juniors Elaine Schneider and Jan Froehlich will direct the open house and parents' reception. Other chairmen include Dick Grave, junior, who will plan the queen's float and coronation, and Dave Seifert, junior, who is in charge of the theme float.

Commenting on the committee, Schwarz stated: "It is the duty of these individual chairmen to organize their various areas, but they need the help of the entire student body to carry out the activities involved. With this help we know that this year's Homecoming will be a success."

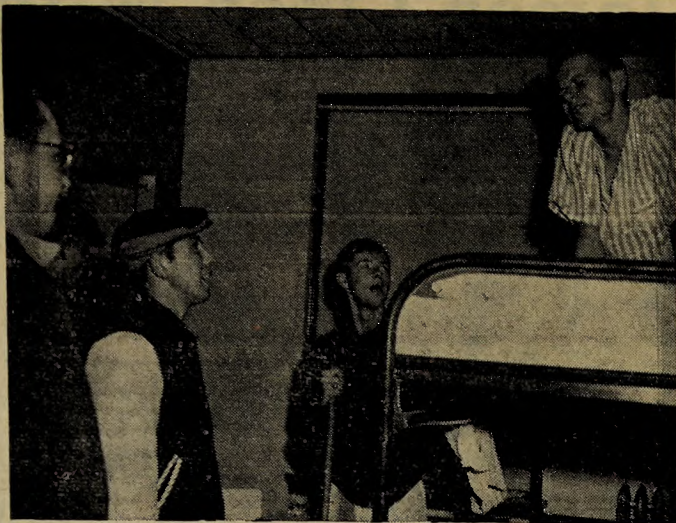

College Officials Attend Workshop

President C. H. Becker, Dean John O. Chellevoid and public relations director Norman Fintel will discuss "Problems of Higher Education in Iowa" at a workshop in Lake Okoboji. Presidents, deans and public relations directors of Iowa colleges will attend the workshop Sept. 23-25 inclusive.

Three meetings are planned on Monday. At noon the workshop of the Association of Iowa College Presidents is scheduled. Iowa Governor Herschel Loveless will speak in the evening.

Dr. Love Returns From European Trip

Dr. Katherine Love, of the German Department, recently returned from Germany, where she attended the seventh meeting of the International Federation of Modern Languages and Literature at the University of Heidelberg.

One of two German teachers from America, Dr. Love attended the Federation Aug. 27 through 31 with 310 members from different countries. The Federation heard lectures and discussion of the methods of teaching modern languages led by professors who were members of their own national language associations.

Traveling through the villages and small towns of 15 different countries, Dr. Love found that English was not the password and that she had to use the language of the people.

"Europe is recovering very well from the World War, but Germany has advanced the most," she remarked.

Dr. Love also stated that the closest she came to the Eastern Zone of Germany was driving along a highway, on the other side of which was the Russian sector.

Former Teacher To Be Ordained

Dr. Raymond A. Martin, who taught Greek at Wartburg from 1952 to 1954, will be ordained into the ministry Sunday evening at 8 in St. Paul's Lutheran Church here. President C. H. Becker, the Rev. William Weiblen and Dr. W. F. Schmidt of St. Paul's will be among the officiants.

Dr. Martin is a graduate of Wartburg College and of Wartburg Seminary. His graduate studies at Princeton Seminary earned him the doctor of theology degree in June of this year.

Dr. Martin has been called to the faculty of Lutheran Theological College and Research Institute, Madras, India. He will teach Old Testament and assist in the preparation of theological literature for the Indian Lutheran Church. He and his family are scheduled to sail from New York Oct. 2.

Technical Changes Planned For College FM Station

Wartburg's campus radio station, KWAR-FM, is working on technical improvements which are expected to increase the pleasure of the listener. A new turntable, valued at $350, has been installed, according to Bruce Friedrich, station manager, and the entire audio system is in the process of being revamped.

Friedrich

An oscillator consists of a simple AM radio station which picks up the KWAR-FM signal and rebroadcasts it at approximately 760 kilocycles.

"Much improvement is being made possible this year by the addition of a technical engineer, Marvin Behrens, to the station administration," reported Friedrich. "The position of technical engineer is new this fall."

A campus service offered by KWAR is the installation of oscillators in the dormitories.

LET'S MEET FRIENDS

Kathi Looks Ahead — Finds A Busy Week

Hil
There seems to be a question in the minds of several students, particularly freshmen, as to joining the several organizations on campus. I'll answer the question gladly—No, it's not too late to join any one of the clubs you may be interested in. New members are always welcome at any time in the year. I'd advise you to belong to the organizations of your choice. You'll gain from these extracurricular activities.

The religious organizations are particularly worth your while. One of these, the Wartburg Luther League-Lutheran Student Association, is holding its initial meeting a week from today, Sept. 28. It will be a Fellowship Supper, held in the small dining room of the Union at 5:30.

There will be a brief program, featuring a panel discussion, "LSA—What needs does it fulfill?" The organization has been struggling for existence in the past years, but President Marlene Haibeck expressed an optimistic outlook for the future. Everyone interested in building and maintaining this channel of Christian student expression is encouraged to attend.

I'll have to swallow some of my previous words. There are clubs on campus which one cannot join at his pleasure. One of these, Alpha Psi Omega, is holding its first meeting of the year Wednesday. It will be a formal dinner meeting (cooked by the members . . . horrors!) at which they will determine the initiates for this fall. I know you are wondering . . . APO is the honorary dramatics fraternity.

Literary minded? Here's an item for you. An informal literary discussion group is in the process of organization. According to senior Duane Schroeder, it will be a non-official (no officers, etc.) group with a dual purpose. It is intended to create and sustain a literary atmosphere and to develop good taste and judgment in choosing material to read. Anyone interested should contact Schroeder. That includes students and faculty. The organizer, who is editing over my shoulder, says this is definitely not exclusively for English majors!

Here's an advance flash: A partial solution to Wartburg's social problem will be offered in the near future. Alpha Phi Gamma (I seem to be stuck with Greek letter organizations), the honorary journalism fraternity, composes a student directory annually. It contains the names, addresses and phone numbers of all students on campus. That much it does, the remaining half of the solution is up to you.

Outfly is great, but it caused Fortress editor Len Flachman a bit of trouble. It seems that one day of picture-taking for the annual was lost in the shuffle. His solution is to take the pictures originally scheduled for this last Wednesday, next Wednesday. That's the 25th. Also, there are more students who want pictures than there was available time. These students may have their pictures taken any time on Monday or Wednesday.

At least we can't complain of dull Saturday nights. Last Saturday there was a dance (well attended, by the way . . . good work by the combo) and tonight there will be a Grossmann Hall sponsored hayride. Really sounds great!

The racks will leave from the south side of Knights Gym at 6:45 and drive around the countryside. There will be a campfire, wiener roast and singspiration along the river. The hitch comes sooner or later. The cost is 25 cents per person. Small cost for an evening of fun.

'Nuff for now.

Bye
